BOS, an economical end-to-end subscription service for mobile devices with a-la-carte options

With more organisations now focused on digital transformation as a way to tear down legacy technology approaches, the opportunity has never been greater to leverage mobile as a deeply integrated part of business strategy. However, device management is a significant resource drain for IT. Security, costs, managing the growing mix & number of devices, and coping with refresh cycles are the top challenges in dealing with devices. At Econocom, we designed BOS – Business Optimisation Services – an economical mobile subscription with end-to-end services, fully customisable, reducing IT workload and offering a predictable device cost model.
